

HYPERALLERGIC

Your Concise Los Angeles Art Guide for Fall 2019

Your list of must-see, fun, insightful, and very Los Angeles art events this season.

Franklin Williams, "Open Outward and Inward" (2019), acrylic on paper and canvas with collage, 40 x 60 inches (image courtesy Parker Gallery and the artist)

Franklin Williams

When: October 27–December 21

Where: Parker Gallery (2441 Glendower Ave, Los Feliz, Los Angeles)

As a young painter California Bay Area artist Franklin Williams abandoned Abstract Expressionism in favor of a stronger, more singular vision. His work is multifaceted and tied to various art historical movements, combining quilted patterns, biomorphic forms, and the handmade and decorative. Over five decades later, he continues to make work that is difficult to classify and pin down as just one thing or another.

"Your Concise Los Angeles Art Guide for Fall 2019." Hyperallergic (September 10, 2019), accessed online.